

LADY JEZEBEL

by Meredith Kennedy

Are you sleeping? Or are you just pretending?
Someday you will awake and this dream will just be ending.
Remember life is for the living and you must remember well
What kind of life are you afraid of, Lady Jezebel?
Lady Jezebel, Jezebel
Only time will tell.

Standing in confusion while the river runs around you
Waiting in seclusion and the water will surround you
You'd better learn to swim or life is certain to confound you
Take my hand, hold it well, you're not alone, Jezebel
Lady mine, remember time will tell.
Lady Jezebel, Jezebel
Only time will tell.

If you think you'll never find a way of true forgetting
You will only find a way of more regretting
If you take my hand and come with me
You will find what you have lost, you will find what love has cost
You will survive.

Take my hand, Jezebel, you're not alone Jezebel,
Lady mine, remember time will tell.
Lady Jezebel, Jezebel (X2);
Only time will tell.
Only time will tell.
