

STATE OF MIND

by Meredith Kennedy

First light of day
Before I even open my eyes
The fragment of a dream
Flutters through the morning light

Can't open my eyes yet,
Can't surrender the dream yet
Can't believe this vision of you
Is only a state of mind

In this shadow world,
In between the darkness and the light
The dream of you is real
Until the darkness knows me,
Until the darkness shows me
You're only a state of mind.

Sweetly, softly, your breath upon my face
I can feel you, I can hear you
In the shadow of a dream
Betrayed by the daylight I find
You're only a state of mind

A hostage to the shadows
A fugitive from daylight
For one sweet moment I am blind
Until the daylight finds me,
Until the daylight blinds me
And you disappear
Because you're only a state of mind.

Because you're only a state of mind.